Exporting Catskins.

There are 50,000 skins of house cats exported from the United States every year. These skins come from all parts of the country, a wholesaler seldom receiving a consignment of furs from a country correspondent that does not include a number of catskins. When the correspondent receives 15 cents apiece for them on an average he may consider that he is doing remarkably well. There is very little demand for catskins in this country except for catl rings and other oddities, sometimes for trimmings, and very rarely as a chest covering in winter for an old man who belongs to the customs of a past generation. So the New York wholesaler sorts his catskins into lots of a half dozen different grades, and sends them to London, to be sold at the quarterly auctions of one of the great fur dealers. The skins of black cats bring the most money, and as many as 10,000 of them have been disposed of for 60 cents apiece. Yellow cat skins are next in value. Maltese and body mixed colors bring the least, often going for 5 cents apiece, or rather they bring the least of the full grown cats, for there is a demand at 3 and 4 cents apiece for the skins of little kittens.

A Good Tip.

A manufacturer of machinery on West Washington street says the idea of talking over a wire originated with a darky in Selma, Ala., thirty odd years ago. Selma was a sleepy old town at that time, and so little was going on that at noontime everybody went home for an hour or so. Even the telegraph office was deserted except for an old colored man who acted as office "boy." The old darky had learned the combination of ticks that called for Selma. One day when as usual the "boy" had been left in charge the machine failed off the call. The daily stood scratching his head in perplexity. Again came the call, this time more prominently. Then there came a fanfare of ticks that sounded profane. The old man was equal to the occasion, for, bending down to the keys, he said distinctly:

"Dey ain't no one here. Dey all gone to church!"

This was a good story in Selma until the telephone was invented, and now some of the inhabitants who laughed at it are disposed to look themselves for not acting on the tip given by the darky.—Chicago Tribune

Valuable Collection of Stamps.

When a collection of postage stamps owned by J. L. N. Paul, Jr., of Philadelphia was insured, it was stated that it was the most valuable in the world. While Mr. Paul has, beyond a doubt, a fine collection, and a stamp expert, "there are, in all likelihood, hundreds of other collections that far exceed his in value. For instance, there is the collection of Philippe de la Renotiere, formerly of Paris. Of course it is impossible to estimate exactly such a collection, but that one has been valued at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. It was left to the museum by the late T. K. Tapping, member of parliament for Leicestershire. The estate of Marie boasts of a collection that is worth about $200,000. The city of Cleveland has another that is valued at from $50,000 to $100,000, and there are many more that I cannot now recall. It is a curious hobby, that of collecting postage stamps, and it would surprise people who are not interested in it to know the amount of money that is invested in old postage stamps."—St. Louis Globe Democrat

Piano Playing and Nervousness.

Not a few long suffering people, who have been driven to the verge of distraction by the noise created by neighbors under these rudimentary conditions, will be inclined to register a vote of hearty thanks to a member of the Academy of Medicine, who has written a paper in which he attributes the nervousness from which girls and young women so frequently suffer in these days to the "abuse of the piano" when they were mere children. This gentleman, accordingly expresses the opinion that girls should not begin their acquaintance with the piano until they have attained the age of 15 or 16, and then only if they have a pronounced taste for it and a "robust constitution" as well.—London Telegraph

Fast Railway Time.

Apropos of railway racing, a French paper tells the following story of meridional exaggeration. An Englishman and a Marseillais were disputing which was the faster train, the express to Edinburgh or the "rapide" to Marseilles. The southerner finally clinched the matter with the following anecdote: "Look here," he said, "the 'rapide' is the fastest train in the world, and here's the proof of it. The other day I was getting on board at Paris when the station master said something that annoyed me. My blood was up. I alighted a blow at him, when the train suddenly started, and it was the station master at Avignon who had his ears boxed."—London Globe

An Even Thing.

"Did you trade any when you was ter town?" asked Silas Outbin. "Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossol, "I did." "I've did you come out?" "No, I've did you call a stand off. I counterfited $50 bill for a—Washington Star of the action of medicines, or vegetable compounds, upon the stomach, and tests in many hundreds of cases, long ago convinced Doctor R. V. Pierce, Chief Consulting Physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., that all cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint could be cured permanently if the right treatment were given. In support of his belief that he had discovered an alternative extract which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," that would cure these diseases, he collected from all parts of the country the evidence of those who had used his medicine, and he has asked the public to investigate for themselves, as he would be glad to furnish the names and addresses of thousands of people who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. All interested should send for a little medical treatise on Indigestion, Chronic Diarrhea, "Liver Complaint," Biliousness, Constipation and Piles, published by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and mailed on receipt of six cents in one-cent stamps. This book also contains the photographs and testimony of many persons who have suffered from diseases of the digestive organs.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

THE STUDY

INDIGESTION; SEVERE PAIN IN STOMACH.

THOMAS FLETCHER, of Olin Station, Fairfax Co., Va., writes:

"I suffered the terrible tortures for ten years with what your Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice describes as 'Gastritis' (pain in stomach). I employed our home-doctor—look 1/2 dozen bottles of salts with no benefit, then I took one-half dozen bottles of a celery compound without any benefit, then eight bottles of iron tonic yet I was no better. It was in 1889, when I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which made a new man of me. I am now fifty-two years old, and for the past five years I have worked very hard on my farm. It is impossible for me to say too much for the 'Golden Medical Discovery'."

RESTRICTING IMMIGRATION.

There are two bills before Congress to restrict immigration. One has been introduced by Representative Johnson of California and the other by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. The Johnson bill, a synopsis of which was heretofore published in the JOURNAL, provides for the absolute exclusion of foreign laborers after August 1, 1896; the Lodge bill prohibits the immigration of illiterate foreigners only. The Immigration Restriction League reports that 42,142 illiterate immigrants over 16 years of age arrived in the United States during the fiscal year 1895. Of the total number of immigrants over 16 years of age arriving in the United States in 1895 21 per cent were illiterate and could not write nor read their own language. The percentage of those given by countries is as follows: Sweden and Norway, 1; Germany, 2; England, France and Scotland, 3; Ireland, 7; Wales, 9; Russia, 26; Poland, 29; Austria-Hungary, 33; Italy, 44. The Lodge bill would exclude these, and the labor unions throughout the country are said to be in favor of it as they argue that a protective tariff on foreign manufactures does not benefit the American laborer, while foreign labor is permitted to come into the country unmolested.

In this connection it is noticeable that Massachusetts, whose representatives in Congress were opposed to legislation restricting the immigration of illiterate whites. The vast number of unemployed in the United States is opening the eyes of Eastern people and those who were opposed to excluding Chinese a short time ago are now in favor of restricting white immigration.

PATRIOTIC PAPERS.

The newspapers in Utah are declaring their independence at the rate of about one a day. They say they have been deceived by the old parties and henceforth will support no candidate who is not first, last and all the time for free coinage. They place the prosperity of the country generally and especially of Utah, above party success and have come to the conclusion that the Nevada plan is the best yet devised. They say the electoral vote of Utah will be cast for a free coinage candidate for President regardless of the party with which he may affiliate.

The papers which have come out flat-footed for a silver party are the Ogden Standard, the Park City Patriot, The Salt Lake Great Campaign, the Springville Independent, the Mount Pleasant Pyramid, the Lohi Banner, the Salinas Press and the Ephraim Enterprise. These papers advocate the adoption of the Nevada plan in Utah, which will have three electoral votes in the Presidential election. Some of the papers have been Republican and some Democratic, but they all agree that there is no hope for silver unless the people of the West and South unite and pledge their electoral votes to the candidate who is nominated on a free coinage platform.

THE KENTUCKY SENATORSHIP.

A special election for member of the General Assembly was held at Louisville, Kentucky, last week. Anthony J. Carroll, who was Speaker of the last House, was elected by 452 majority, defeating the Republican candidate. The district went Republican at the general election for Governor and now it has swung back again into the Democratic ranks.

The election of Carroll makes the General Assembly a tie on joint ballot with 68 Democrats, 68 Republicans and two Populists. Had Carroll been defeated it would have given the Republicans a great advantage, and a warm contest was the result.

There are seven Republican candidates for the Senatorship and the election will depend upon the votes of the two Populists, one of whom is said to be disposed to vote for a Republican and the other for a Democrat, and the only Republican who stands any show of being elected is Congressman Hunter of the Third District.

WHY DO YOU DO IT?

The Carson Tribune says the only reason advanced for the existence of the Republican party in Nevada is, that the leaders are looking forward to a reward for their allegiance through Federal patronage. While the Tribune scolds the Silver men for making such an assertion it does not assign any other reason for the existence of the Republican party in Nevada. What else but the hope of a place at the public crib could induce any intelligent citizen of the silver producing State of Nevada to affiliate with a party whose leaders conspire with Cleveland and the gold syndicate to crush the principal interest of the State by doing all in their power to depreciate the price of silver? What reason can the Tribune assign, except the hope of Federal office, for supporting a party that in the last Congress united with the Administration Democrats to defeat every measure that would benefit the leading industry of the State?

"Why," asks the Silver Knight, "do the leaders of the Republican party follow Sherman with the knowledge that he is guilty of the crime of 1873? Because they cannot see how he lost anything by that crime."

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

What the Senate and House did Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, December 4.—The Senate Judiciary Committee has reported the nomination of Rufus W. Peckham of New York for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court favorably, which insures his confirmation. The Judiciary Committee also agreed to report favorably the nominations of Judges Springer, Kilgore and Stewart.

The chief interest in the Senate proceedings to-day centered in the speech of Senator Morgan of Alabama, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, on the Behring Sea awards.

Senator Caffery of Louisiana was re-elected at the expiration of a short term for a full term and was sworn in. The first bill of the session to be passed was one granting the State of Pennsylvania permission to occupy the United States court-rooms at Scranton and Williamsport during certain months.

Colloquy of Illinois gave notice that he would address the Senate to-morrow on the Monroe doctrine.

Among the bills introduced was one by Voorhees granting a pension of $200 per month to the widow of the late Secretary of State Gresham.

The Senate in executive session this afternoon confirmed the nomination of Rufus H. Peckham of New York to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

In the House the bill by Hopkins, Republican, was passed to amend the statutes fixing the customs district of Chicago so that the district would embrace all of the States of Illinois and Indiana. Hopkins said the bill was in the interest of the smelters of Aurora who desired to be able to pay duties on Canadian ores at the port of Chicago.

The oath of office was administered to Price, Democrat, of Louisiana. A resolution was then passed for the appointment of Isaac Hill of Ohio as Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms and three other employees agreed upon by the Democratic caucus.

Where Will it Convene.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The Republican National Central Committee assembled at 2 o'clock to-day to begin hearing the cities desirous of entertaining the next Republican National Convention. The original purpose was to meet to-morrow, but the influx of enthusiastic advocates of cities seeking the convention made it desirable to hear the preliminary speeches advancing the claims of the cities, to-day. As one of the officers of the committee stated that to-day would be given to "working off steam," after which the committee will get down to business behind closed doors. Most of the National Committeemen have arrived and the corridor of the Arlington Hotel is the storm center of the surging crowd of convention "boomers" and others.

At 2.30 only twenty members of the committee were present, and it was 3 p. m. before it was called to order and Chairman Carter announced that the hearing of the claims of the cities would be postponed until to-morrow.

McDonald on Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 9.—Richard H. McDonald, Jr., once Vice President of the defunct Pacific Bank, was arraigned for embezzlement in the Superior Court this morning. It is charged that immediately after the failure of the People's Home Savings Bank, of which he was also a Director, the defendant abstracted from the vaults of the Savings Bank packages of money aggregating $20,000. The defense will probably be that the money was taken by defendant's brother Frank, who shipped the coin across the continent in a trunk, which was robbed of its contents en-route. Dick McDonald was once tried for perjury, but the jury disagreed.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

It is rumored that ex-President Harrison is to wed Mrs. Dimmock, the attractive niece of Mrs. Harrison.

The two-year-old son of David Lynch at Ukiah, California, had its skull smashed by a kick from a horse on Sunday evening.

Another bond issue to strengthen our credit abroad is probable in the near future unless Congress adopts some measures to relieve the reserve fund.

The Senior Law Class of the Missouri State University by a large majority decided to invite R. G. Ingersoll to deliver the commencement address, but the faculty disapproves the selection.

John W. Mackay has ordered a mausoleum to be erected in Greenwood Cemetery, New York. He paid $38,000 for the ground and the monument will cost $250,000. It will rest upon a granite platform and will contain twenty chambers.

The Superior Court, San Francisco, has decided in the case of Theodore Fox that Senator John P. Jones and J. W. Mackay did not defraud the stockholders of the Consolidated California and Virginia Company.

The American Trades and Labor Federation is holding its fifteenth annual session in New York. President McBride presides and J. W. Sullivan of Typographical Union, No. 6, delivered the address of welcome. About 150 delegates represent 200,000 members.

R. H. McDonald, Jr., Vice President of the Pacific Bank of San Francisco, was arraigned for embezzlement in the Superior Court yesterday. He is charged with abstracting $20,000 from the People's Savings Bank, of which he was a Director, immediately after it failed.

Harry Hayward, convicted of the murder of Miss Gigg at Minneapolis, now raves like a lunatic, and his lawyers say he is insane. During the trial Hayward was as stolid as Durrant and smiled when the evidence proved him guilty of deliberate and premeditated murder.

The "Patriots of America," an organization which is said to obligate its members to support no man for office who is not for free coinage, is said to have a large membership in the Middle States and over 1,000 lodges are awaiting charters. W. H. Harvey, the author of "Coin's Financial School," is at the head of the movement.

The British steamer Principia from Shields for New York took fire while off the northwest coast of Scotland. The vessel ran for the Faros Islands, struck a rock and went down with twenty-seven persons, one of whom was a passenger. Only one person, one of crew, was saved and he was eighteen hours in the wreckage before he was rescued.

The Kansas Supreme Court has rendered an opinion sustaining the constitutionality of the law of 1893 which gives eighteen months to the debtor to redeem on all sales on execution or foreclosure of mortgage. The opinion covers twenty-six type written pages. It emphasizes the theory that a mortgage is not a title but security. The decision involves $100,000,000.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads, with all its hereditaments and appurtenances, including 2,000 locomotives and thousands of cars, will be sold at public auction at Topeka, Kansas, by a Special Master in Chancery. There are 10,000 miles of track in the system and it is estimated to be worth $300,000,000. No bid will be considered unless the bidder has deposited $500,000 in checks with the Master in Chancery as an evidence of good faith.

Death of Miss Curry.

Rev. Mr. Unsworth received a note last night informing him of the death of Miss Marietta Curry, which occurred in San Francisco yesterday. Miss Curry was greatly pleased with Mr. Unsworth and it is the wish of her mother that he should conduct the funeral services, which will probably be on the 11th instant at Carson. Miss Curry was taken to San Francisco last week for medical treatment. A surgical operation had been performed by the San Francisco surgeons from which she did not recover. She was a daughter of Colonel Abe Curry, the well-known Nevada pioneer, and an estimable lady. Her aged mother, a lady of probably 80 or more years, resides in Carson and it is not probable that she will long survive her loved one.

End Better Skip.

Two ladies had occasion to go to the depot last evening on the arrival of the train from the west, expecting to meet a male member of the family. The latter did not arrive and they immediately started on their home. As they walked on Commercial Row they noticed two individuals following them, but thought nothing of it. Upon reaching Wick's corner the two men accosted the ladies and asked them to have a glass of beer. The ladies were greatly frightened and hurried up the street. One of the ladies thinks she can identify the two men and efforts will be made to find out who they were. If they remain in town and can be identified the undertaking business will probably have a boom.

Justice Court.

Six hard looking individuals were arrested Sunday evening and charged with vagrancy. They were brought before Judge Linn yesterday and pleaded guilty. They were sentenced and will now earn their board for a few weeks by working on the roads.

Seriously Injured.

John Candelberger was brought to town yesterday, having been badly hurt by falling from a wagon while loading wood near the Steamboat Canal. He fell backwards, striking heavily on some rocks and it was thought that his spine was injured.

CARSON MINT SHORTAGE.

SECOND TRIAL OF JAMES HENEY—SEVENTH DAY.

More Explanations Drawn Out by the Prosecution—Standard Gold Fineness.

(Correspondence of the JOURNAL.)

CARSON, December 9, 1895. The United States District Court met at 10 A. M. pursuant to adjournment. Judge Hawley presiding. Piles of books from the mint and under the arms of counsel came in; also piles of bullion bars and iron moulds from the mint, including the noted spurious melt from Bodie, the ten bars of which have been passed backward and forward and handled so much during the mint investigation that they are worn very smooth, clean and bright. The jurymen all came up bright and smiling this morning, eager like the attorneys, for a fight to a finish. They are kept in close confinement and under rigid official surveillance and this juratual experience might perhaps result as beneficially as a month's course of the Keeley cure.

Melter and Refiner Hirsch Harris resumed where he left off last Saturday evening. The mint shortage was practically and officially ascertained and announced by Mr. Mason the latter part of March last, and then I first knew as a fact of the spurious melt and of its getting into the mint settlement. I don't know exactly what caused the loss, but am trying to find out. After Jones, Assistant Melter and Refiner, was suspended I found a key in his desk which Superintendent Adams said was a key to the refinery. Never knew it before. How did the key get into Mr. Jones' desk?

I do not know. Who made the consolidated melts record?

Mr. Jones and myself, Jones principally. He made nineteen entries and I made two. Mine were the latest and were on gold granulations.

That spurious melt was not turned over to me before the settlement of 1894 or it would have been in my vault. It could not have been put in there without my knowledge. I don't know how No. 77 got stamped onto that melt. I thought a few months ago that I could distinguish an ordinary silver bar from an ordinary gold bar by the looks, but am satisfied that I can't. Never had any experience before 1894. From the shape of the bars and the iron moulds themselves that melt must have been made in the deposit melting room. William Pickler was deposit melter.

Andrew Mason, cross-examined by Coffin—The excess in 1889 was 121 ounces, gold.

Don't you find the whole yearly records in the Melter and Refiner's department incorrect since 1889?

I should most certainly say they were incomplete up to and including May, 1894.

Taking the whole system of books in the mint, do they not balance correct to May, '94?

Yes, apparently, but the Melter and Refiner's books show a palpable shortage.

P. B. Ellis—The bogus melt was found out last March. Catts clipped a sample and I assayed it. It only showed 19 1/2 fine, whereas the original was 182 1/2 fine, the difference in value being over $20,000.

The fineness of bullion from the refinery to the assay office ranges from 970 upwards, 1,000 fine being pure gold. In '94 one melt in the refinery from the Colorado mine, Alpine county, went 993 fine and one from Pine Grove, 953 1/2 fine. The list of deposits from the Standard mine, Bodie, in '92, '93 and '94 from 515 to 514 1/2 fine. Bullion from Silver City ranges between 600 and 600, but never exceeds 650 fine. At the Colorado mine they seemed to have a process of their own for treating their bullion before sending it to the mint. It may have been the chlorination process, but I don't know.

Have sent gold back from the assay office to the refinery because it did not come up to the required fineness, once in 1889 when it showed only 987 fine.

G. W. Likens testified to having prepared in the refinery the gold representative examples placed in evidence, also relative to the refinery processes.

R. D. Clarke, melter and refiner of the Reno Reduction Works, when Henev appeared in August, 1893, repeated his former testimony, critically cross-examined by Woodburn.

The gold material Henev brought to be melted resembled this sample recently prepared at the mint refinery; assisted Mr. Likens in preparing it by the sulphuric acid process.

I remarked to Henev that I had never seen the like and it appeared to me like gold that had been separated by the sulphuric acid process. The gold value of the melt when completed was $5,525 50. Henev's subsequent transactions, all during that month of August, were related, the whole amounting to about $23,000.

Gold worked by the chlorination process goes up to 997, 998 and 999 in fineness. Explained process to jury, showing sample prepared by himself.

ALF. DOTEN. The mercury registered thirteen degrees above zero yesterday morning. Although it seemed to be the coldest morning thus far during the season the thermometer indicated three degrees warmer than one night about three weeks ago.

THE NEW UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS
Lincoln Hall Almost Ready for Occupancy.

The three new buildings at the University are rapidly approaching completion. Contractor Ryland has about finished Lincoln Hall, which is the handsomest and cheapest building of its size ever erected in Nevada. It will take a few weeks more for the plumbers to get through, and then the building will be ready for the furniture.

The Girl's Cottage is also well under way, though not so far advanced as Lincoln Hall. It will probably take a month or more to complete the inside work.

A pine floor is being laid in the Gymnasium, over which there will be a hard wood floor. This will be completed in a short time. It is the largest hall in the State and its opening will probably be celebrated with a grand ball. It is a very substantial building and with its battressed walls might be mistaken for a fortress.

The ground is being cleared off and leveled for the foundation of the Mechanic Arts building annex, the contract for which was awarded to C. E. Clough last week. This building is to be erected on the site of the wooden structure which was burned a month ago.

There are no wooden buildings on the University grounds and it is not likely that any will be erected there.

VACCINATION AND THE SCHOOLS.

Proceedings Perfected for a Test Case.

Last November the Board of Health made an order requiring all children attending the public schools to be vaccinated. No attempt was made to enforce this order throughout the State until November 29th, when the Board of Health notified all school boards in Washoe county at least to enforce the September order and exclude all students who did not present a certificate from a regular physician that the student had been vaccinated within five years.

The parents of some of the public school pupils and several of the University students protested against this order on various grounds, which it is not necessary to mention. Yesterday several students, who did not have the required certificate, were excluded from the University, and last night the School Board of Reno arranged to test the law under which the Board of Health acted.

Hon. T. V. Julien will institute the proceedings, one of his children being excluded for not presenting the required certificate. The intention is to get the case before the Supreme Court immediately.

Look for his new ad. to-morrow.

An Earthquake Shock.

A sharp earthquake shock occurred at 7:40 P. M. on Sunday evening. A number of persons in various parts of the town felt the shock and on comparing notes as to time and direction they agree in almost every detail. The vibrations were short and sharp and seemed to be from east to west. This makes the third shock of earthquake felt here this year.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

News From Here, There and Every-Where.

The E. T. M. Co. of Elko is putting in an electric light plant.

The Sentinel says taxes in Eureka county are nearly all paid up and the delinquent list will be small.

Elko has the foundation laid for the high school and a 750 pound bell, and the Independent says "when the filling is put in between the two the school-house will be nearly completed."

In addition to the 500 men, who were discharged from the shops of the Southern Pacific Company at Sacramento last Saturday, word is given out that 150 more will have to go immediately.

Alaska's gold output this year, as estimated, will be $3,000,000, nearly $800,000 of which has been obtained from placer mining, chiefly along the Yukon river. There are about 500 stamps in operation.

Not for many years have there been so many mining engineers representing English and French capitalists in this state, examining gold mining property with a view of purchasing, as at present.

The Appeal says Tom Riskey is killing eighteen horses a week and feeding them to the hogs. The meat is boiled in a cauldron with grain and is very fattening. People who have tried horse steaks say they are very palatable, a good deal better than tough beef.

The Appeal says the more the Buckeye placers are investigated the richer they seem to be. It is now estimated that it is three hundred feet to bad rock and if this is the case the gold deposits will, at a rough estimate reach the enormous sum of two hundred and seventy-five millions.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundernar, of Diamond Lake, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Regular size, 50 cts. and $1.

We Want More All Round Work.
It is clear that we cannot look round and take note of our contemporaries in any department in life without feeling certain that many who stand in the rank are not indebted in any way to any physical powers which they may have cultivated for the development of their mental organization, and I may include in that observation also some men of past history. Yet, as a matter of history, the physical development comes first and proves that good physical work should be cultivated. The danger lies not in the cultivation of it, but in the overcultivation, and the tendency now is toward the latter.

I can remember when exercises of a physical kind were limited in number; when cricket and rowing were almost the only ones, and when rowing was the only exercise that led to any considerable risk of overstrain. Now both these exercises are being pushed to excess, while others which are very popular, such as football, cycling and pedestrianism, are alluring men to an overcultivation of certain parts of the body that should be shunned; that destroys its own object, in so far as bodily perfection is concerned, and that certainly when it renders the body imperfect, injures the mind of the owner and of those who unfortunately spring from him. - Sir E. W. Richardson in Saturday Review.

How Ants Kill a Snake.
That ants can actually kill snakes is a hard thing to believe. There is irrefutable evidence, however, that they do, and scientists have discovered that the snake has hardly a more dangerous enemy. The large red brown forest ant is the sort that is the most fatal to snakes, and a curious thing about the attack of these tiny creatures on this comparatively enormous reptile is that they kill it for food and not on account of any natural antipathy.

When some of the ants catch sight of a snake, they arouse the whole community at once. In platoons and battalions the little fellows set upon the reptile, striking their nippers into its body and eyes at thousands of points at once.

With such rapid movement and such splendid concentration, the attack made that the snake has no chance at all of escaping. It is like a thousand electric needles piercing him at once. The snake soon becomes exhausted, and dies ignominiously.

Then the ants set harder at work. They begin to tear off the flesh in small pieces, gradually stripping away the skin and working underneath. Not until they have carried off everything except the bones and the skin itself do they retire. - Pearson's Weekly.

The Famous Old Willow Ware.
You may know a plate of old willow ware by this description: On the right there is a mandarin's country seat. In the foreground there should be a pavilion, in the background an orange tree and to the right a peach tree. The place is inclosed by a fence, and through the estate there should wander a brook, and in this brook there is an island high at the left side with a cottage on it. Over the brook there is a bridge, and on it there should be three figures. The willow tree, the famous willow tree, is at one end and a gardener's cottage at the other. Two birds are high in the air above the picture. The whole is supposed to tell the romance of the mandarin's daughter, who is one of the figures on the bridge. The others are her lover and the mandarin himself. The birds are turtle doves into which the lovers were changed by the gods that they might escape to wrath of father mandarin who pursued them. - New York Post.

A Mountain of Gold.
The most famous and most puzzling of all gold mines is the Mount Morgan. It appears, from one of the Sydney papers, that it contributes more precious metal to the world's treasure than any other patch of the earth's surface of the same extent. Mount Morgan is supposed to be the product of a thermal spring and is simply a mountain of gold, but of gold that has already been treated by nature. In some far-off age the hill has been a huge natural crucible, and all the gold it contains has been already mined, chemically dissolved and precipitated by nature herself. No speck of gold larger than a pin's point has ever been discovered in the mountain. The precious metal exists in a sort of golden flour, dissolved through ironstone. - Westminster Gazette.

Took to Welsh.
It is seldom that a man so masters a foreign language that he can express himself therein when greatly excited. A Welshman, after attempting to take part in a prayer meeting conducted in English, and finding it very difficult to express the fervor of his heart in the partially acquired tongue, suddenly broke the halting and laborious sentences with a joyful exclamation: "Lord, I thank thee that thou knowest Welsh!" and straightway launched upon the sea of gutters which came so readily to his lips. - New York Observer.

Milk.
Milkmen sometimes find in summer that the morning's milk will sour, while that of the evening being still sweet. The reason for this is milk when drawn from the cow is at a temperature best adapted for bacterial growth. The night's milking is cooled overnight, whereas the morning's milk is poured directly into the cans, and the bacteria which have entered it are well started on their growth before the night's milk is warmed by the air.

A Practical Education Was Here.
"Then you have learned to love me already?" he rapturously cried. Straight into the eyes of the man with a million looked she. "Yes," she answered, and her words thrilled him strangely. "I was given a thoroughly practical education." - Detroit Tribune.

A Dwarf Taken South of Reno.
Mr. Geoffrey Hudson, the celebrated English dwarf of the seventeenth century, was doubtless the most widely known human curiosity of his time. He was born of parents of the normal size at Rutlandshire in 1610. At birth he weighed less than a pound, and a half, and was only 8 inches in length. He did not begin to walk until after the end of his third year, his height at that time being less than a foot. At the end of his seventh year he was taken into the family of the Duke of Buckingham, having between the ages of 8 and 7 years added but four inches to his stature. With Buckingham he lived until 16 years old, at which time he was only 18 inches in height when equipped in fashionable high heeled shoes.

At the age of 80, however, a remarkable change came over the midgit, and for the next five years his growth was as remarkable for its rapidity as it had previously been for its backwardness. At the age of 80 his height had been about 1 1/2 feet. At 85 it was 3 feet and 9 inches! How or why this remarkable change was brought about was a question too deep for the Society of Royal Surgeons, who, time and again, discussed the phenomenon without arriving at any satisfactory conclusions. Hudson lived to be 63, which is three times the average length of life among giants. - St. Louis Republic.

Dr. Hall and a North Carolina Guard.
The late Rev. Mr. Charles H. Hall, rector of Holy Trinity church, Brooklyn, was fond of getting into the mountains of North Carolina, far from railroads, whenever he could take a vacation. He loved to come in contact with the hardy, untutored mountaineer. He esteemed a man as a man. He never tired of telling of an incident that first gave him a knowledge of the inbred hatred of the revenue officer. Going up the mountains with a guide, they came to a deep ravine in a thickly wooded part of the mountains.

"Man killed over there last week," said the guide.

"What had he done?" asked Dr. Hall.

"Revenue officer," replied the guide.

"But," persisted Dr. Hall, "what crime had the officer committed?"

"He was the revenue officer," again said the guide.

It was a long time before Dr. Hall could be convinced that the fact that the man was a revenue officer, charged with breaking up moonshine stills, was crime enough in the eyes of his guide for the severest punishment. - Raleigh News and Courier.

In "House That Jack Built" Style.
I witnessed an incident or a series of incidents on Congress street which will remind lawyers of the famous "Squib case." A driver of a package delivery dropped a somewhat sizable bundle upon the sidewalk. Falling with a thud of very considerable size it startled a dog, which in jumping to avoid the bundle ran against a woman, who, in her efforts to prevent herself from falling, nearly overthrew another woman with whom she collided. This latter woman's parcel came in contact with a passing man, who dodged his head with sufficient force to shake off his eyeglasses, which, falling upon the ground, were stepped upon and ruined by a young woman who was walking up street with a young man for a companion. The whole train did not take a moment, but by the time the man had picked up the now useless frame of his former eyeglasses the bundle dropper was some distance down street unconscious of the mischief his carelessness had wrought, while the poor dog, as if certain he had done wrong, was rapidly sneaking up street. - Portland Express.
